COLLEGE BASE BALL SEASON WILL OPEN HERE THIS WEEK

Catholic U. and Gallaudet to Play First Game-Maryland Aggies Schedule Hard List of Foot Ball Contests Next Fall.

BY H. C. BYRD.

The college base ball season epens here this week. Catholic University and Gallaudet are to inaugurate the year with a game Saturday. The Brooklanders were scheduled to begin Tuesday with a game against the Maryland Agricultural College, but it was called off upon an agreement between the authorities of the two institutions because neither of the two squads is in condition to play.

The worker contract which probably will be renewed.

Gallaudet, Western Maryland and Washington College are not on the schedule for next fall. Inability to come to a mutual agreement on the question of dates is the reason for the non-appearance of these teams.

The main game of the year, of course, is that with Hopkins on Thanksgiving. While the early part of the schedule is very hard no effort will be made to get the team in its best possible condition until Thanksgiving. St. John's, the only other college in Maryland on the list, is booked for November 4. Next fall will be perhaps the first time in Galfaudet and Catholic University are fall will be perhaps the first time in the history of the game in the state that M. A. C. has failed to meet Washopen their seasons. Charley Moran, ceach of the Brooklanders, said yesterday that his team had been out to terday that his team had been out to practice but once and consequently was absolutely in no condition for real base bail. Gallaudet has done little more. It was listed to meet an athletic club nine a practice contest yesterday, but it cold that practically nothing could be done. Gallaudet and Catholic Georgetown opens its schedule next week, Mount St. Joseph's being booked to appear on the Hilltop March 27, Monday. After their agreement to call off the game Tuesday with C. U., the Maryland Aggies have no contest booked until March 30, when they go to Annapolis to meet the Navy.

There is no question that the local rollege nines are in poorer shape now than at a corresponding time within nany years. Not one of the teams is eady to play ball, the pitchers espetially having suffered through their inbility to cut loose with curves. The ayers have had not more than one or o days in which they could bat within injury to their hands and infield active has been almost a lington.

Ington. November 18—New York University, at Wash. November 30 (Thanksgiving day)—Johns Hopkins, at Baltimore 30 wo days in which they could bat with-but injury to their hands and infield practice has been almost out of the question, so numb did their fingers be-

The local colleges undoubtedly will start their annual games against the invading nines from the north in poorer condition than in years. The fact that the northern institutions have big cages in which their men have been training for some time may show considerably in the results, too. The big universities usually have the time of their lives winning from teams in this section in the early part of the season, because the latter have been outdoors, where they could face better pitching. This spring, though, conditions of that character will not favor local schools to any extent.

The Maryland Aggies' foot ball team will play ten games next fall, more than any eleven representing that institution has ever carried through institution is to tour the east and it probably will be met. Matches with the Chevy Chase Club, Dumbarton Club and Columbia Country Club are contemplated also. To Manager Reynolds goes the credit for having arranged the most comprehensive tennis schedule any Georgetown team has sociation of the District of Columbia.

This year's contest will be an innovation in one way. It will be the first clash between the Shrine and the Grotto, and no greater friendly rivalry could exist. If present plans do not go astray there also will be a battle of music on the day of the game, as each intends to have a well recruited band on the field.

While no strict canvass has been made of the two branches of the Masonic order, it is an assured fact that there is plently of base ball material within the ranks of each, and that this year's contest will come up to that of last summer, when a "real game" was offered.

LOOKING THEM OVER -WITH BILLY EVANS-

Some Feats and Features of the National Pastime

-Did You Know-

That Max Carey, left fielder of the Pittsburgh team, led the Nationa League last year in stolen bases with thirty-six thefts, the smallest number to attain that honor since the organization of the league? Billy Hamilton holds the record for stolen bases in the National League, with 115 to his credit, made in 1891, while the year previous he stole 102 bases. No member of the St. Louis or Boston club has ever had the honor of leading the league in base

That Larry Doyle, who led the National League in batting last year, is the first member of a New York team to carry off that honor in the last thirty years? While most every other honor has come to various players wearing the uniform of the New York Giants, not a player since 1885 has carried off the batting honors. In that year the famed Roger Connor led the organization with an average of .371. It was a strange coincidence that the Giants, oft wirner of pennants, and a club generally in the first division, should carry off the tail-end honors, the year Doyle had his big season with the stick.

That Dave Danforth, who will be a member of the pitching staff of the Chicago White Sox this season, broke the strike-out record for the American Association last year, when, in a game with Kansas City September 12 he struck out eighteen men? The former record was seventeen, held by Marty O'Toole, and made in 1911. Two days later, against St. Paul, Danforth whiffed sixteen. During the last four months of the season Danforth averaged practically a strike-out an inning in the games he worked, a most marvelous record.

That the Austin team of the Texas League broke a world record in 1914 both and that this year's contill come up to that of last sum-year a "real game" was offered.

Wenth 9 to 2. Previous to this performance the Meridian team of the Cotton States League, in 1913, had the dishopor of dropping twenty-six straight games before breaking into the games won column. In the big leagues the Pitts-burgh and Boston teams are charged with the worst records in 1906 the once famous team managed by Jimmy Collins suddenly went to pieces and lost twenty games in a row. The Austin club also established another very unique record in 1914. Twenty games were played with the Houston club, and the Austin team failed to win a single contest, nineteen going into the records of thirty straight defeats, and the failure to win a single game from Houston of the players being new men from other leagues. Austin team falled to win a single contest, nineteen going into the records as defeats, while the other one was a tie. In keeping with the record of thirty straight defeats, and the failure to win a single game from Houston in twenty. Austin without much difficulty managed to drop 114 games, a high-water mark for the organization. Only thirty-one games were won by Austin during the entire season, three of the clubs contributing most of them, Fort Worth dropping eight, San Antonio seven and Galveston six to the lowly Austinites.

Eddie Gharrity's home run in the game against Virginia was one of the longest drives ever made anywhere. He hit one of Drummond's fast ones so far that it rolled over the embankment into the prep field, and this, too, with a field that was a trifle soggy. Gharrity is sure to be of value to the Nationals this summer because he is a good hitter and anything but an ordinary catcher,

Reconstruction of the day being warmer Griffith will put his charges through a hard lot of batting practice tomorrow. He does not want to miss any days hereafter unless he has to, and it is necessary to keep the players in action whenever it is anything like fair weather these days, because every lick counts now.
